Challenge #1: Goal

I arrived wanting to create a website for our business, which is our bakery, while I was having a brainstorming session. A website that advertises our bakery online, raises awareness of our business, and improves the ordering process at our real-time monitoring location with online menus and carry-out.

This website displays everything we sell, including our custom-designed cakes, a variety of breads ranging in size from little to large, and our specialty halo-halo desert, which is perfect for hot summer days. If you are interested in purchasing, you can also place an order right here on our website.

This is very helpful for our loyal customers who are browsing for our different cake designs. Since practically everyone uses the internet and other modern technologies, I planned to create a website of this type.
